Alumni President Reports On State Of Chapter

Dear Brother,

My past Noose articles and letter of September 30 have highlighted the many varied initiatives, accomplishments, and recognitions of our DU chapter and individual brothers. The undergraduate articles in this Noose provide the best testimony for my observations. In addition, those alums who have returned to 6 South Ave. in the last two to three years all comment on how welcomed they were by the active brothers. The alums were impressed by the undergraduates as "good DUs" and were pleased with their obvious care and maintenance of our newly renovated house. Although the football season is over, please take or make an opportunity to get back to the house yourself.

New DU Resident Advisor

Jared Goodman, a 2001 graduate of USC who is currently working on his MBA in the Johnson School, began working as our DU RA in August. At USC, Jared was a very involved fraternity member, IFC VP, student senator, ski team member, and mentor with the Big Brothers of Los Angeles. After graduation, he worked as a business consultant for Arthur Andersen/KPMG in Los Angeles and then Huron Consulting Group in Chicago.

Jared is well accepted and respected by the undergraduates, enjoys living in the house, and is involved with helping individual brothers and the officers work through various situations that arise. We are very fortunate to have Jared as our DU RA.

Brothers' October and November Accomplishments

- Our five newest DU brothers were initiated on November 19. Randy Shayler '72 delivered another of his inspiring "charges" to the assembled group, which included our new brothers, some parents, and the brotherhood.

- DU VP of Recruitment Lance Polivy's ('08) leadership was responsible for the house's successful fall rush. He is currently working with all the brothers planning and conducting activities to attract another 20 or more "good DUs" in January's freshmen Rush.

Congratulations to Lance, who was also just elected as the IFC vice president of programming—a well-deserved recognition of his abilities. It is great for DU, as well, to have Lance in this important campus-wide position.

- Congratulations to the four winners of our alumni scholarships—C.G. McClure '08, Dave Binder '07, Mark Levendorf '08, and Tyson Stutz '06—as well to the 34 brothers who attained a 3.0 or better GPA for last spring's semester. Academics matter in DU at Cornell!

- In addition to contributions made by Jim Hyland '07 and Blake Hamilton '07 to the baseball team's success and Jim's recognition of All-Ivy mention, seven DUs—Chris Eckstein '06, Patrick Potts '06, Loren Rosenberg '08, Ed Sabia '06, Ted Sonnenberg '07, Todd Rusinkovich '07, and Dan Wasser '08 played on Cornell's winning football team. DU's three starters—Chris, Potts, and Ted—were recognized throughout the season for their consistent performances and contributions to Cornell's success. Chris, senior tight end, was an excellent blocker, receiver, and special-teams player. Potts, senior linebacker, won All-Ivy honorable mention, as well as ESPN The Magazine's Academic All-District selection with his usual solid play. Ted, junior center, also earned All-Ivy mention by doing his part to protect the backfield. Cornell's line allowed only 17 sacks, while the offense averaged over 360 yards and 26 points per game.

- In response to several brothers' requests, our DU Steinway was completely restored and tuned. The chapter and DUA split the cost of these repairs. Now, we've got a lot of happy piano players at 6 South Ave.

Alumni Activities and Events

- Annual Spring Dinner: About 30 alums attended our April 21 get-together in New York City. Many were our "regulars," whom we count on every year. However, we drew a few "out-of-towners," like Mike Pleninger '63, who made the extra effort to be there. Mike "had such a good time reconnecting with friends" from his days at 6 South Ave. that he returned for the Gary Wood weekend activities.

Danny Alvarez '91, our DU director, who has done a great job running the last several of these, is leading our effort to determine the "what, how, and when" of an event that would get you there. Please give Danny any ideas that would help ensure your attendance. Contact Danny at dannyalvarez15@yahoo.com, 646-223-1297 (work), or 917-838-2636 (home).

- Reunion Reception, June 11: Randy Shayler '72 acted as our host and reports more than 50 alums, families, and friends attended and enjoyed a wonderful sunny and warm June afternoon on the DU porch and inside our very clean and renovated house.

- DU Leadership Institute 2005: Lou Morga's Noose letter discusses valuable information and ideas that will help our chapter improve its operation that he, Ryan Avery, and Vinny Feliciano gained there. You've recently received the fall 2005 Delta Upsilon Quarterly, which covers the Institute in detail. As you may have read in the Quarterly, and as I mentioned in my September letter, the Cornell DU Alumni Association was recognized as the Alumni Chapter of the Year. All five of us—including Tony Cashen—who attended left convinced that our undergraduate chapter will compete for some excellence awards this year.

The 2006 Leadership Institute is scheduled for Kansas City August 3-6. I encourage you to attend and participate in a very rewarding session while spending time with our chapter's representatives.

- Post-Game Receptions: Our thanks to John Honchariw '06, alumni relations chairman, who—assisted by Randy Shayler '72—organized and ran this fall's very successful and well-attended gatherings for alums, parents, and brothers. There were particularly good turnouts after the Homecoming victory over Georgetown and the win against Columbia on Gary Wood Day.

Bill Wilson '66, the Cornell Football Association vice chairman, conducted the pregame recognition for Gary, where Gary's wife, Jill, and children accepted the Joe King Memorial Award, honoring Gary's outstanding contributions to Cornell football. Bill again spoke movingly at our postgame reception, recalling Gary's wonderful qualities as a person and DU brother. It was a day to remember.

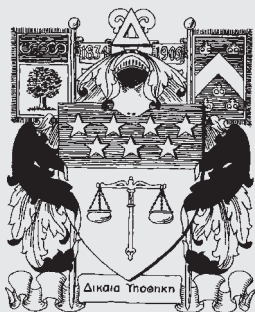

My bottom line on our chapter is things are good and continually getting better! Again, thank you for your continued interest, involvement, and financial support.

WANTED: A FEW GREAT MEN

DU ALUMNI BOARD SEEKS MEMBERS

The DU alumni board seeks interested alums to join the board, as several members will be rotating off in the coming year.

All that's required is a strong DU interest and a willingness to work with a great group of undergraduates. Please contact Tony Murray at murr024@optonline.net for more information.

Capital Campaign Nears Halfway Goal Of $650K

Leadership contributors to the Capital Campaign over the past two years have taken us within shooting distance of the halfway point of our $1.3 million campaign objective.

The Campaign Steering Committee (Rod Beckwith '57, John Hock '90, Bruno LaRocca '64, Tony Murray '60, Bob Safford '56, and Nels Schaaenen '50) set this goal as an objective for the first phase of the campaign before launching the all-member canvass. We are currently making a "push" to reach our initial goal, as we intend to launch the all-member campaign in early 2006.

Elsewhere, throughout this issue of the Noose, you will observe how much the alumni and undergraduates have accomplished since the reorganization of the chapter three years ago. No other chapter in Cornell's history has achieved such a quick and successful reorganization. The "heavy lifting" that has been done by a handful of alumni brothers and the outstanding new undergraduate members justifies—and now requires—the full financial support of our 1,000 alumni brothers.

We urge you to join with those who have already given us a head start on our necessary fundraising by making a Leadership Gift. You can do this by contacting any member of the steering committee or by directly contacting me, Tony Cashen, at 118 Old Ox Rd., Ghent NY 12075, 518-392-0077, or by e-mail at acashen@earthlink.net.

Alumni Celebrate Homecoming Victory At Reception

After an overwhelming victory over Georgetown, the members of Delta Upsilon celebrated the win by hosting a reception at the house for alumni and their families. The reception, organized primarily by John Honchariw '06, alumni relations chairman, was well received and attended. Despite the unpredictable weather at the game, the sun burst through the clouds for the event, welcoming the alumni who made the trip back to Ithaca.

Additionally, the alumni congratulated the current members that play on the football team—Chris Eckstein '06, Patrick Potts '06, Ted Sonnenberg '07, Ed Sabia '06, Dan Wasser '08, and Loren Rosenberg '08—on their hard-fought victory.

The reception marked the largest alumni gathering of the season; however, all members of the brotherhood look forward to visitors at any time. The current brothers wish to thank the alumni for attending the celebration and for their continued support as we work to improve Delta Upsilon.

A Message From The Undergraduate President

Dear Brothers,

Our chapter is off to another great year thanks to new, energized leadership setting the tone. Participation and motivation have been themes stressed this year, and the results have been very positive.

The chapter house is in excellent condition thanks to the generous donations made by you, our alumni. Our new recruitment chair, Lance Polivy '08, has aggressively recruited five new members for our fall 2005 pledge class and is well on his way putting together a very strong spring 2006 class.

The brotherhood has taken greater caution in protecting our physical house through the hard work of Vinny Feliciano '07, risk management. John Honchariw '06 has been busy gathering information on many alumni who plan on being a part of the alumni mentoring program he created last year. He also organized alumni receptions at the chapter house immediately following home football games.

This summer, Ryan Avery '07, new member educator, Vinny Feliciano '07, Tony Murray '60, Tony Cashen '57, and I traveled to Denver for DU International's Annual Leadership Conference. Here, we exchanged valuable information with men from other chapters and learned important lessons from experienced alumni. This information is currently being instituted in our chapter by the creation of new leadership positions that will increase involvement and responsibility.

Our chapter has been gaining strength in many areas over the past year. These areas include membership, involvement, leadership, chapter renovation and maintenance, new member development, financial management, philanthropy, campus relations, and social activities. With the continuance of a successful new member program, I see only a positive future for our brotherhood.

Please stop by 6 South Ave. at your convenience to see in person the excellent condition of our brotherhood.

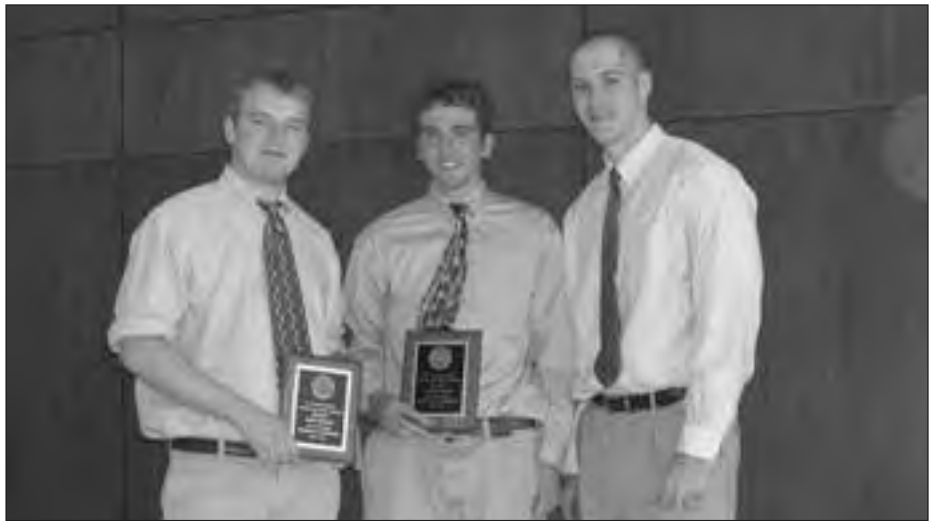

Dikaia,
Lou Morga '07
Undergraduate President

Mentoring Program Gains Momentum

For the last two semesters, over 25 different alumni of all backgrounds and class years have connected with the undergraduate house to construct the DU mentor program. The program creates a forum where alumni can share their career experiences with the brothers who will be entering their own careers soon.

For the undergraduates, it is an invaluable resource that gives first-hand insight into fields they are pursuing. For the alumni, it is great opportunity to share some stories and pass on the knowledge they have gained to the next generations of Cornell DUs. For both, it is a great way for the DUs of Cornell to connect.

All that is required is some basic information about your field and position and a few hours of your time to confer with the undergraduates. Almost all communication is done via e-mail and phone, and no travel or time during the business day is required. However, there is always an open invitation to come to chapter or dinner if you are passing through Ithaca or perhaps are back for one of the alumni receptions the house holds after every football game. We have had several alumni brothers pass through and give a talk at a chapter meeting with great benefit to the house.

On behalf of the house and the other alumni participating in this program already, we would like to invite you also to join the program. As previously mentioned, we need alumni of all years and of all backgrounds to share knowledge gained from the transition from Cornell to job market.

If you have any questions about the structure of the program or would like to sign up, please contact

Dan Gilroy, who has driven this program from the alumni side, or me. We look forward to hearing from you and hope to see you around 6 South Ave. soon.

DU Brothers Enjoy Continued Academic Success

The DU brotherhood improved its combined spring '05 semester GPA to 3.116. 34 brothers attained a 3.0 or better GPA. Our $500 alumni scholarships for the semester were awarded to: Dave Binder '07, for the brother with the highest GPA; Mark Levendorf '08, for the associate member with the highest GPA; Tyson Stutz '06, for the brother with the most improved GPA; and C.G. McClure '08, for the associate member with the most improved GPA.

Special recognition and congratulations to Dave Binder, our vice president for philanthropy, who has received the highest GPA scholarship for the last three semesters while doing an outstanding job leading DU's very successful philanthropic activities.

We have established a goal of improving the chapter's GPA to a 3.2 for this 2005-'06 school year. The chapter's study room has been improved with additional computers, desks, and lighting. Tutoring is also available for brothers who request it.

IFC Recognizes Delta Upsilon's Philanthropy Program

Delta Upsilon's commitment to philanthropy is one of the most important aspects of our brotherhood. In recognition for our continued hard work and accomplishments, the Intrafraternity Council (IFC) presented Delta Upsilon with the Award for Outstanding Service to the Community at the annual Greek System recognition event.

Also in the spring, DU hosted an Easter egg hunt to benefit the Ithaca Youth Bureau, and dozens of excited children scoured the house, looking for the coveted eggs. The brothers played games and decorated eggs with the children.

For the second consecutive year, DU hosted a haunted house with the Kappa Alpha Theta sorority. Hundreds of kids from the Ithaca area enjoyed the haunted house last year, as we raised money for the science department of Southern Cayuga Middle School. This year, we distributed flyers in many of the local elementary schools and donated the contributions to the Ithaca City School District. We decorated the house and gave kids a tour through the entire first floor, deck, and second-floor hallways. It was a lot of fun to have families come out to the event last year, so we kept this year's event very family oriented, too.

Earlier this semester, we collected donations at the door for the Red Cross when we held two open-campus parties. It was great to see a positive response from the student body to help the victims of Hurricane Katrina, and we raised over $1,000 dollars for the Red Cross.

Any comments or questions regarding the philanthropy program can be sent directly to me at dcb34@cornell.edu.

Help Us With Recruitment

Formal freshman rush begins January 17. Please provide us with the names of any worthy candidates you might know.

In addition to the three undergraduate legacies in our new undergraduate chapter, we have had good alumni referrals over the last two years—but we can always use more!

Contact Lance Polivy at lap35@cornell.edu with any information.

DU Welcomes Five New Members

Our brotherhood is continuing to grow here at 6 South Ave. This fall, we recruited five new pledges, who are now starting to learn about the history of Delta Upsilon.

It never would've happened without the help and support of our active alumni. These five new guys are a great group of students and are coming together as a pledge class and a part of our brotherhood. One is a transfer, and the other four are in their sophomore years at Cornell. They are a diverse group academically, representing three of the seven colleges (industrial and labor relations, arts and sciences, and engineering).

They are also very involved and take advantage of the numerous extracurricular opportunities that are available at Cornell. Rich Scherer '07 is interested in journalism and created his own newsletter about campus issues. Others are more interested in sports. Pete Schrafel '08 is a runner, and Ty Kline '08 kept busy keeping meticulous stats for the DU intramural football team, which was in the semi-finals of the frat-league tournament. The starting kick returner for the team is Greg Phillips '08, who is the son of Cornell DU alumnus Duane Phillips

'76. Duane made the trip all the way from Lafayette, California, for Homecoming this year and got to spend the weekend with his son and some of his old DU brothers. When we were in the chapter room looking at Duane's old composite, everyone could see the resemblance.

We are already working hard to get great guys for our spring pledge class. We've been hosting barbecues, taking recruits to dinners, playing card games, and doing all types of rush events to make sure that we get the type of quality individuals that we're looking for. But I can always use help.

If you have any sons, relatives, or friends that are at Cornell and would be a good fit for DU, please contact me at lap35@cornell.edu and let me know, so that I can try to get to know them.

DU's Help Big Red Win First-Ever Division Title

After a disappointing 2004 campaign that saw the Cornell baseball team post a 13-29 overall record, a 7-13 Ivy League record, and a winless spring trip—in which the team was outscored 81-14—the team was counted out early for the Ivy League title.

Despite the loss of many key seniors, the young 2005 team won a three-game series in convincing fashion against Big East powerhouse West Virginia in its opening weekend. The struggles began, however, after a nine-run fourth inning in the fifth game of the spring trip against Illinois sent the squad into a downward spiral, which saw the team losing 11 of the next 13 games—including a four-game Ivy League sweep by Harvard and Dartmouth.

The Red then took three of four from Columbia, and a midweek split with Brown saw the team back in Ivy League contention. After a four-game sweep of Penn the next weekend, in which the Red outscored the Quakers 27-4, the squad was in sole possession of first place. After splitting with Princeton the final weekend of regular season play, the Cornell baseball team claimed its first-ever division title and the first by a non-Princeton Tiger team since division play began in 1996.

The Red fell to a talented Harvard team in the Ivy League championship series in early May, but the team was thrilled by the success of the 2005 season. Delta Upsilon brothers Jim Hyland '07 and Blake Hamilton '07 played vital roles in the season's success, which saw five members earn All-Ivy status. Jim Hyland '07, an All-Ivy honorable mention selection as a relief pitcher, went 3-0 with a save and threw eight strikeouts in six appearances to go along with a 2.25 ERA. He also hit .200 with three doubles and eight runs batted in.

Blake Hamilton, an Ivy League weekend starting pitcher, appeared in nine games, starting five, and compiled a 4.67 ERA and a team-best 9.51 strikeouts per nine innings with 37 Ks in 35 innings. With the loss of only five seniors and 11 new incoming freshmen and transfers, the 2006 squad will look to improve on last year's division-winning performance.

Any alumni interested in coming to campus and watching the brothers in action should consult the site www.cornellbigred.com for a game schedule.
